Wardle opens new lecture series

The woman who wrote "Vindication of the Rights of Woman" and once termed a "hyena in petticoats" by Horace Walpole was defended by Dr. Ralph M. Wardle, English Department head, in a lecture Tuesday evening in the faculty clubroom.

Mary Wollstonecraft, who is generally recognized as the first feminist and most original thinker of the 18th century, was the subject at the first of a series of five faculty lectures.

Dr. Wardle told the group that her book, written in 1792, was the result of her repression at home and in society.

She did not appeal for votes or careers for women, but for education, said Dr. Wardle. Education which would enable women to be better wives and mothers.

Dr. Wardle visited England this summer doing research work on the biography of Miss Wollstonecraft.

The remaining four lectures will be presented one monthly through April. Meetings are open to the public.

Dr. Leslie N. Garlough, head of the Department of General Sciences, will speak Jan. 4 on "Biometry—Variation and Prediction."

Bail slates student confabs

Chemistry societies gather here Dec. 15

The American Chemical Society is sponsoring a mixer for university and high school chemistry students here Dec. 15 at 7:30 p.m.

OU's Chemistry Club, student affiliates of the American Chemistry Society, the Society from Creighton University and some outstanding high school chemistry students and their teachers will attend.

The meeting will feature displays of chemical instruments and a film, "Bikini Island."

Falconer's band named to play at Christmas Dance

Music for the Christmas Dance Dec. 17 will be played by Don Falconer's band.

This was announced at Wednesday's Student Council meeting. Special entertainment and decorations for the Peony Park affair were also promised.

The dance will be semi-formal, for couples only. Activity card holders will be admitted free. Others will be charged 85 cents.

In other action, the council agreed that in future student elections all names will appear on the ballots as they do on the petitions. Responding to protests of talking limitations in the lounge, it instructed Councilman Tom Slack to seek a solution with Miss Lord.

A committee to plan next year's convocation was named. Members are Pat Hasch, Bill Arnold and Lloyd Metheny. Appointed to a locker investigation committee were Gene Hampton and Metheny.

New conferences to start Monday

In line with his Homecoming innovations, Dr. Bail has added another new twist to Omaha University life.

Monday morning, he will inaugurate a series of "President's Conferences with University Classes." They will be held in the auditorium.

Dr. Bail...another new twist.

The purpose of the conference, according to Dr. Bail, is to "discuss matters of importance to students and to help them to evaluate their university education."

Students will be dismissed from classes to attend the half hour conferences. They will be dismissed only for the conference period. Students are expected to attend the conferences unless formally excused by their academic dean.

The conference schedule
Monday, Dec. 6, 11:30—Junior and Senior Classes
Tuesday, Dec. 7, 11:30 Sophomore Class
Tuesday, Dec. 7, 12 noon Freshman Class

Chest collectors strive to meet Wed. drive finis

Registration for second semester begins Thursday

Counseling for the second semester will begin next Thursday and continue through the 18th, Registrar Alice Smith said Wednesday.

The counselors will post free hours on their office doors so that students may arrange appointments.

The student is to pick up his registration supplies in room 248 before going to the counselor appointment.

The university administration is asking freshmen to register for day school classes only. Sophomores are to register for evening classes only when it is impossible to take the course in day school.

Registration for new students will begin Jan. 3.

New courses opened

Omaha University will have several new courses to offer by the end of the semester.

Already organized are courses in Sales and Sales Management, which began last Monday, and Insurance Principles and Practices, which opened Nov. 15.

Other new courses to begin in January are Office Management II, Effective Business Communications II, Job Evaluation and Radio II.

Ever see sound? Here's a chance

Students have a chance to see sound and hear light Tuesday.

If that isn't enough, motionless motion, exploding paper, bouncing putty, cold light, trains that obey spoken commands, invisible light, artificial fever and electronic burglar alarms will be on exhibit.

All this is included in the "House of Magic."

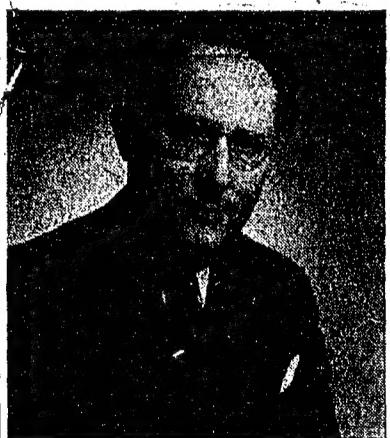

The demonstrations, shown by General Electric Co. in the Tech High Auditorium, will also include such "impossibles" as running away from your own shadow and lighting an electric lamp with a match.

It is not a magic show! It will demonstrate how sober scientific fact is stranger than fiction. The show is open—free—to day school students at 4 p.m. and evening students at 8 p.m.

Banquet speaker Ward originated All-Star contests

Arch Ward is an idea man. The Chicago Tribune Sports Editor who will be the main speaker at the university's annual football banquet, Dec. 13, originated the All-Star-Pro football game in 1934.

One year earlier, he began the National-American baseball All-Star game.

Arch Ward...idea man. The well known sports editor also began the development of the Golden Gloves boxing tournament in 1928. Three years later the amateur boxing program spread into an annual international affair.

A native of Irwin, Ill., Ward was the late Knute Rockne's first publicity director. He is author of the best selling sport book, "Frank Leahy and the Fighting Irish—the Story of Notre Dame Football."

Ward attended Columbia Academy in Dubuque, Iowa. He entered the University of Notre Dame before joining the Chicago Tribune in 1925. In 1930 he became Sports Editor of the Tribune.

Religion topic of 3rd Coffee Hour

Third Coffee Hour of the year is set for Monday afternoon in the faculty clubroom at 3.

Discussion will center around the question "With knowledge of psychology, sociology and science in our present world, do we need religion?"

Phyllis Earp, psychology major; Dorothy Mundt, sociology major; Nick Caporale, biology major, and Gerald Roitstein, English major, are on the student panel.

Marjory Mahoney is the Student Council's Coffee Hour Chairman. Dr. Wilfred Payne is sponsor.

Classes let out for Tuesday rally

There will be a short pause for basketball team introductions Tuesday morning.

All classes will be dismissed at 10:25 for a pep rally to be held in the auditorium at 10:30. This will be the student body's opportunity to meet its '48-'49 basketball squad.

The cheerleaders will also be introduced to the students and the band will be there. The rally is sponsored by the Warriors.

This will be one of the few times in recent years that all classes will be dismissed for a pep rally.

Omaha University's first home basketball game will be played Tuesday night at 8 in the Tech High gym against Sioux Falls College.

Students to get spectators seats free for banquet

The following statement has been issued to Omaha University students by Charles Hoff, chairman of the general committee for the 1948 football banquet.

"There seems to be a mistaken idea among university students that the Omaha University football banquet is a 'city affair' rather than an all-university activity.

"This is far from true.

"The Feathers, Warriors and cheerleaders are all represented on the general committee and are very active in making preparations for the banquet. Many of our students are on the entertainment program.

"Students are enthusiastically invited to purchase banquet tickets.

"But, because the banquet committee recognized that $3.75 is 'rather steep' for most students, it seemed only proper to make arrangements for them to see the floor show, hear the speakers and participate in the tribute to our football players.

"To meet this situation, regular 75 cent spectator seats in the balcony are available to University of Omaha students free - provided they present their activity tickets to the cashier in the business office.

"These tickets are being held exclusively for OU students until Dec. 4. After that date, they will be on sale to the public and only whatever may be left will be available to our students."

Attention Seniors...

The following seniors have not identified their proofs at Colvin-Heyn; Virginia Oberg, William Brown, Dwight Miller, J. R. Buckley, Douglas Madison, Robert L. Anderson, Dale Harkert, Charlotte Kavan, LeRoy Gibson, Erwin Hatfield, Fred Johnson and Joe Suchan. Positively no proofs will be accepted after tonight.

Scouters attend founders' dinner

"Alpha Phi Omega is red hot." According to A. G. Spizzirri, APO extension committeeman, the national service fraternity is a "going concern." He spoke at Alpha Theta Chapter's annual founder's day banquet Monday night at the university.

The fraternity, composed of university men who were formerly associated with the Boy Scouts, emphasized their by-word, "service," recently when they re-decorated the South Omaha YMCA ballroom.

At the banquet new officers were installed. They are William J. Maloy, president; Robert Routt, vice president; Robert Rhodes, secretary; Robert Root, treasurer; Donald Chambers, historian; and John R. McGill, alumni secretary.

Debate quartet vies at Kearney tomorrow

Four university debaters will be on hand tomorrow for the annual Kearney State Teachers College invitational tournament.

The quartet will leave this afternoon.

Eileen Wolfe and Lois Brady make up one team and John Madden and Gene Step another.

The Madden-Step tandem will get the jump on the other debaters. They will meet a Kearney team in a convocation tonight.

Tomahawk requests snaps

Tomahawk Editor Judy Rutherford sent out a call yesterday for snapshots.

She requested that informal snaps of students, faculty and administration be turned into the Tomahawk Office, room 306.

Miss Rutherford said that the pictures will not be returned but owners can pick them up in her office.

Song judge says crop is 'better'

"Entries in the current school fight song contest seem to be much better than those of last year," Martin Bush, head of the Music Department, observed Wednesday.

Mr. Bush is in charge of the contest judging now underway. Assisting are V. J. Kennedy and Richard Duncan, also of the Music Department.

Out of the 28 contest entries, the judges are selecting the five they consider best for presentation at a convocation. Final selection will be made by a student vote at the convocation.

Lead-off arrangements for the convocation are being handled by a Student Council committee of Jo Hughes, Lloyd Metheeny, and Ruth Jorgensen. They will arrange for the band, chorus, and ballots for the final judging.

The Gateway and Alumni Association, co-sponsors of the contest, will also be represented on the convocation committee.

Because the time of judging completion is indefinite, no date has yet been set for the convocation.

Of the 28 entries, 15 were submitted by university students, 13 by Omaha musicians, and one entry was anonymous.

Omaha U Radio—KOIL

Musical history made

The first concert broadcast in the university's history was presented by the 50-piece university band, Monday night at 9:30 over KOIL.

Under the direction of V. J. Kennedy the half hour program featured Latin rhythm in "Caribbean Fantasy." The trio work of trumpeters Robert Malec and Gerald Leffler with Ted Frazeur at the drums, highlighted "Toy Trumpet."

Library to be featured

Good points about Omaha U's library will be featured on the KOIL "Your University" series Monday evening at 9:30.

Miss Ellen Lord, librarian, will head the discussion. Its purpose will be to stress the wide scope of the library and the various services and material at the disposal of the students.

Omaha University's library is said to be one of the most complete in this section.

KOWH

Answers to the question "What Is Psychology?" will be heard Sunday from Claude E. Thompson, professor of psychology.

It will be the first of the six-week series of panel discussions and will contain definitions of psychology necessary for understanding the following panels.

The cupboard is bare . . . . .

Let's all have a big laugh. That's what the Campus Chest deserves.

We laughed when the collectors didn't show up, when they didn't call back and when we waited in front of the lounge for 20 minutes for the donator who would be there for sure. Nobody gave a darn. In fact, the whole system was kind of funny.

And the cause of all the hilarity can't be accredited to any one person or group. Just about everybody contributed to this Campus joke.

This was the first time the Student Council asked for help in collecting for the Community Chest, World Student Service Fund and the Red Cross. No one denied that the breaking down of the responsibility of gathering in the funds sounded pretty good on paper. The only sounds we hear now are the yells of the guys who waited around between classes for someone who never showed up.

It would be very interesting to find out how many were not even called. If you weren't home, that was tough. You couldn't expect the little sorority girl to call back.

If you were called, you were one of the lucky ones. If you kept your appointment, you are a campus curiosity. If the collector showed up too, then your contribution survived the obstacles of human apathy.

The Student Council isn't laughing, though. They are out tapping people on the shoulder, "Have you contributed yet?" It isn't a pleasant job when each request is followed by a tale of how long you stood in front of the Bookstore last Monday with a limp dollar bill in your hand.

Perhaps we can fill the Chest yet, but hasn't all this confusion been fun?

Lost gold

Engle back from Chicago

Mrs. Thelma Engle, secretary of the Placement Office, has just returned from a trip to Chicago, where she attended a meeting of the National Institutional Teachers Placement Association.

APO scrub, paint at South Omaha Y

The Alpha Phi Omegas took their service motto to heart during the vacation and donated their free time to the remodeling of the South Omaha YMCA ballroom.

The cost of the redecoration materials was raised by members of the Y, but there was not enough to pay for the labor. So the fraternity volunteered for the job.

Jack Smart projects chairman, was in charge of the work schedule. Every member of the APO will scrub or paint at least one morning a week until completion.

Former student is married Nov. 20

Jeanne Calkins and Donald L. Samson were married Nov. 20 at the Lowe Avenue Presbyterian Church with the Rev. Francis Belote officiating.

Miss Calkins is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Morgan W. Calkins. Samson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. LaVerne Samson of Blair.

The couple will live in Stanberry, Mo.

Miss Calkins attended the University of Omaha last year and was a member of the Kappas.

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

Greek actives travel fast, far to hunt elusive pledges

Greek pledges gave their actives the runaround recently with amusing but confusing clues for skip night fun. The Pi O's and the Phi Sigs failed in their sleuthing but the Kappas came out the victor with five minutes to spare.

A submerged clue was the Phi Sig actives' Waterloo when pledges skipped the Nov. 23 meeting.

The actives' search ended at the World War II Memorial where a clue left by pledges on the fountain had fallen in the water.

At the midnight deadline the pledges were still in hiding at Trinity Cathedral.

Earlier clues had led actives to the Community Playhouse, a barbershop, the Mormon cemetery, Hospe's, Marchio's and the YMCA.

Triumphant pledges created new styles for actives the following day. Pants were rolled to the knee, neckties worn backwards and noses decorated with lipstick.

Pi O's crack nuts for clue

After cracking nuts to find the first clue, the Pi O's were led to the Chief Theatre with "Forever Amber" as the hint. Glenn Miller's rendition of "Tea for Two" meant Miller Park and another clue for the Nov. 24 chase.

The final barrier to success at Pledge Marilyn Wellman's home stumped the actives. Meanwhile the hunted pledges were calmly awaiting the searchers in the basement of an ice cream ship in Florence.

For their failure the actives were forced to do the pledges' chores the next day carrying books and trays.

Kappas master jigsaw puzzles

Kappa actives proved to be masters of jigsaw puzzles and consequently came out on top with their chase against time for the pledges Tuesday.

By completing several phrases which contained the words "tracks, park and lake" the actives figured out Hanscom Park Pavilion and the pledges' hideout for the evening.

Other clues were found in a locker at the Union Station and at a cafe in North Omaha.

As a reward the actives-to-be will serve the victors a potluck supper at the next meeting.

Social Register

Cerise and white dominated the decorative scheme at the Pi O dinner dance at the Blackstone Hotel Saturday evening.

Cerise and white candles with silver glitter tied with white satin bows and surrounded by clusters of baby mums decorated the tables.

The Greek letters of the sorority and guests names in cerise adorned the placards. Carnations for the escorts were attached to each card.

Jack Swanson's orchestra played for the 44 couples attending the dance.

Jackie Smith was chairman in charge of arrangements.

"A jug of wine, a loaf of bread, and thou..."

This was the topic, not the menu, when the Sigma Tau Deltas met Sunday evening to discuss the "Rubaiyat" of Omar Khayam.

The monthly meeting of the honorary English fraternity was held at the home of Clarice Johnson in Council Bluffs.

Recordings of the "Rubaiyat" by Ralph Bellamy were played.

The deans of students will be hosts at a tea Tuesday from 4 to 6 p.m. in the faculty clubroom. Officers and sponsors of student organizations and members of the Faculty Committee on Student Affairs will be guests.

Delta Beta Phi's dug deep into their pockets and drew out $25 to contribute to the Campus Chest. Forty members of the business fraternity were present at the Tuesday business meeting.

The Warriors, men's service fraternity, discussed school support at the university hockey games at their Tuesday meeting. A committee of Sterling Kent, Jerry Lefler, Bill Fear and Don Gibson was appointed to meet with Virgil Yelkin, director of athletics, to air the subject.

New sweaters with the fraternity's emblems will be worn on days of all home basketball games and meeting days, every other Tuesday.

Also on the agenda was a new policy of absenteeism whereby three consecutive absences will mean probation and possible suspension.

Seybold-Schneider engagement is told

Marie Seybold

The Rev. and Mrs. G. E. Seybold have announced the engagement of their daughter, Marie Carolyn Seybold, to Herbert C. Schneider, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Schneider.

Miss Seybold and Schneider both attend the University of Omaha. No date has been set for the wedding.

Sigma Pi Phi elects Harouff president

Don Harouff was elected president of Sigma Pi Phi, educational fraternity, at a meeting Nov. 24. Retiring president Wentworth Clarke presided at the meeting.

Other officers elected are Dorothy Nelson, vice president; John Bryan, secretary, and Alice May Smith, treasurer.

New active members were introduced. They are Harouff, John Bryan, Marilyn Duffy, Patsy Hummel, Carolyn Lewellen and Phyllis Earp. These students have completed six or more hours of education.

Seven new associate members, who have three credit hours in education, are Virginia Petrick, Clarence Smelser, Marie Franco, DaLone Pilger, Frances Bell, Lucille Franco and Shirley Alberti.

SPORTS

Omaha after first win tonight against Doane

Coach Don Pflasterer's Indian basketball team will be after their first victory of the season tonight when they meet Doane's Tigers on the Crete floor at 8.

After the good showing of the Indian cage crew against Iowa, they have to be rated a favorite over the Tigers. It will be Doane's opening game of the season.

Coach Pflasterer said after the Iowa game that his team played a good game, but they needed a lot of work on rebounding. The Hawkeyes gained a large majority of the rebounds under both baskets.

Omaha didn't play Doane in last season's basketball competition, but they did play the Tigers in the two previous seasons.

Skipped a year

In the 1945-46 season, the Indians lost the first game, 53-40, and won the second tilt, 51-35. OU took both games during the 1946-47 season by big margins. Coach Harold Johnk's Indians captured the first contest 49-31 and swamped the Tigers 81-46 in the second game.

Coach Pflasterer will probably stick with the same starting lineup that opened against Iowa. This quintet had Glen Richter and Don Fitch at forward, Guy Oberg at center and Joe Arenas and Billy Holderness at the guard spots.

Richter has been selected by the head mentor to captain the Indians against the Tigers. "Rick" scored six points against the Hawkeyes Wednesday night.

Pflasterer held a light workout last night in the Tech High gym and also discussed the mistakes the boys made in the Iowa game.

One thing is sure. The squad will have to improve their free throw average if they expect to win the close ones this season, Pflasterer commented.

Fobes gains top 'O' Club position

Clark Fobes is the new president of the "O" club.

He defeated Phil Barber and Bob Shober in the race for the club's top spot at the "O" club meeting in the lounge Monday night.

Jack Sueme and Don Harouff were elected to fill the other two officer posts. Sueme takes over the vice president position and Harouff will handle the secretary treasurer's duties.

Larry Christensen, Bob Young and Hugh Jackson were defeated by Sueme in the vice-presidential race and Harouff defeated Chet Stefanski and John Duffy for the secretary-treasurer position.

Duffy, Young tie

After the election of officers was completed, the club voted for Bob Johnson and Duffy as Sgt. at Arms. Duffy gained his post by a narrow margin over Young. They were tied at the end of the first ballot.

President Fobes' first official action was to name a permanent initiation committee. He appointed Phil Barber, chairman, and John Duffy, Harold Hlad, Bob Shober and Young as members.

The next "O" club meeting will be held in the lounge Monday night at 7:30.

Iowa, top-heavy favorites, ahead by 27-25 at half

Omaha University cagers succumbed to Iowa University height, 64-44 Wednesday night after a gallant first half effort at the Iowa City Fieldhouse.

Iowa surged to the 20-point advantage in the second half. However, the smaller Indians gave Hawkeye Coach Pops Harrison many uneasy moments during a torrid first half.

The determined Redskins, paced by Forward Glen Richter and Center Guy Oberg, maintained a terrific first half point-for-point battle with the Iowans.

Iowa drove to a four-point lead midway in the first period. But Richter and Donny Fitch dropped in a bucket each to tie the Big Nine cagers 19-all.

Charley Mason, understudy to Murray Weir last year, hit two quick baskets and again Iowa moved into the lead.

Arvin Arches 2 Buckets

Then with a minute and a half left in the half, Archie Arvin looped in two difficult one-handed shots to pull Omaha within two points of the highly-favored foe.

Fitch's desperation shot went awry and Iowa clung to a slim 27-25 margin at intermission.

After the half Coach Harrison inserted Slim Weiss, 6-ft. 3-in. guard, and Glen Dille, center. This combination soon proceeded to bombard Indian hopes.

For six minutes the Indians held on determinedly. Game Captain Joe Arenas swished three one-handers while Oberg plugged away valiantly but vainly against his giant opponents under the basket.

Midway in the final period, the tremendous Iowa height advantage began to take effect. Weiss dumped three tipins and Dille followed with two more.

Weiss, Dille hot

From that point the Hawks scored almost at will in wrapping up the game.

Weiss and Dille counted 21 points between them in the last half. Most of their baskets were garnered via tipins or followup shots.

Oberg led OU scorers with 11 points. Arvin had 10 and Arenas and Richter totaled six apiece.

Lampe's likes—

Irish will swamp USC Saturday

Eight games this weekend wind up the football season with the exception of the bowl classics.

Notre Dame plays Southern California in the only big game of the day, and it looks like the Irish will have an easy time racking up an undefeated season against the Trojans.

In other games, Clemson should keep a clean slate by beating The Citadel and Vanderbilt rates a fairly large margin over Miami of Fla.

Rounding out the Saturday card, I like Utah State over San Diego State, Texas Mines over Hawaii, Rollins over Richmond, Arizona State over New Mexico and Loyola over Pepperdine.

During the last two weeks, Ray Lampe hit 31 winners out of 36 picks for 86 per cent right.

Brock's '5' opens at Doane tonight

Charley Brock, Papoose cage coach, has a rough go ahead of him tonight.

Brock and his boys will hit the road to Crete, Nebr., where they will meet the Doane College B team at 6:15 in a little brother preliminary to the Indian-Doane varsity clash at 8:00.

What makes it hard for Brock is the fact that he can't put together the best starting five until the varsity squad has been reduced to its official capacity of players.

Despite the fact that there is no regular five as yet, the squad is loaded with good individual talent. Brock named several boys who have looked good in pre-season play, among them, a number of newcomers.

Gene Hines, lanky freshman from Omaha Central, has performed well thus far," Brock said. "Chad Taylor, a late starter, has also looked good in recent practices."

Among others listed as turning in good performances thus far were newcomers Rex Shober, Bob Murray, Nat Fitch, Bernie Anderson, and veterans Fred Abboud and Larry Christensen.

South, Central gain final beths in spiker tourney

Intramural volleyball rolls into its final round Monday when South meets Central for the spiker championship.

The Packers, riding high after last week's upset win over Tech, the defending champs, will again rely on Rex Shober's power spiking to carry them to the title. Shober was the main factor in the Packer's 15-8, 15-8 conquest of the Maroons last Monday.

Ernie Flecky's sparkling play again paced the Centralites in their 15-12, 15-12 semifinal victory over Alpha Sigs in the first game Monday.

Flecky's consistently good play is the backbone of Eagle hopes for a win over South and the volleyball crown.

The South-Central tilt is scheduled for Monday at 4 in the Quonset Hut. Following it, Tech will meet Alpha Sigs for third place.

T Bowl tilt taken by Thetas, 7-6

Theta turned in a piece of defensive football mastery to defeat Alpha Sigs 7-6 in the annual Thanksgiving Day T-Bowl game.

After Theta converted a blocked kick into a touchdown, Gene Evans passed to Greg Longley for what proved to be the winning point.

Brothers Art and Al Heiam combined for the Theta touchdown in the first period. Art blocked Ed Van Steenburg's kick on the Alpha Sig 10-yard line and brother Al fell on the ball in the end zone for the score.

The Evans to Longley pass gave Theta a 7-0 lead.

Alpha Sig bounced back in the second period. Vern Shires, former Papoose tailback, threw a pass to Don Thompson on the Theta 40 and Thompson scampered the remaining distance for the touchdown.

They lost their chance to tie the score when the Theta line repulsed a quarterback sneak and the score remained 7-6.

Intramural basketball meeting Monday at 4

Ernie Gorr, new intramural basketball boss, will hold a meeting in his office Monday at 4 for all managers interested in entering their teams in the forthcoming basketball tournament.

Arrangements for basketball practice sessions and team entries will be made during the conference.

Phi Sigs remain at bowling top

Phi Sigs are still the team to beat in the intramural bowling league.

On Nov. 23, they took three games from Alpha Sigs and last Tuesday they slipped but still managed to win one tilt from Tech.

South and Tech continued to stay close to the leader. The Packers took two from Tech two weeks ago and last week won two out of three from Thetas.

Tech rebounded from their double game defeat to South as they took two out of three from Phi Sigs.

North Hits Stride

North keglers made the biggest gain during the past two sessions at the 40 Bowl. Two weeks ago they thumped Thetas, 3-0, and last week they won three forfeit games from Central which put them in fourth place only two games behind the leader.

Tech's Ray Light captured high game honors last week as he knocked down 201 pins.

One bus mishap victim returns

Only one of the three university women employees injured in the Tuesday morning bus-oil transport accident at 60 and Dodge Streets is back on the job.

She is Mildred Case, cafeteria pastry cook, who was shaken up in the mishap.

Miss Case's loyalty to her job prompted her to return to work immediately after the accident, Gladys Black, director of food service, said yesterday.

Mildred Case...had to get the coffee ready.

"Mildred wanted to get the coffee ready for the students who swarm into the Inn when it opens at 7 a.m." Miss Black said.

"Mildred stayed on the job for several hours," Miss Black added, "but the shock suffered in the accident was too much for her, so we sent her to a doctor."

Miss Case returned to work to stay Wednesday.

Other two not back
The other two injured women will be off for some time.

Mrs. Mabel Irwin, who suffered a fractured rib, will be off for two weeks, Miss Black said. Mrs. Bessie Lofton, who suffered eye and leg cuts, will return in about ten days, the food service boss added.

A normal baby should stop crawling at the age of one. If he's still crawling at the age of five, see if he's got a tail.

Practice teachers to be given assignments

Fifteen Omaha U students are going back to high school.

They are the practice teachers who will gain experience in local high schools during the coming semester. The students will receive their assignments at an organizational meeting Monday.

The education majors will spend six weeks of the semester in observation of teaching methods, six weeks in partial participation and six more in actual teaching.

Students snag writing posts

Typewriters are working to the tune of cash registers for several Omaha University journalists.

One is Pat Roessig, June '48 graduate, who is editor of a house organ for Guarantee Mutual Life Insurance Company. Miss Roessig was society editor of the Gateway and editor of last year's Tomahawk.

Another house organ editor is Barbara Muir. She received a two-year associate title in journalism in '45 and is now editing Mutual Benefit's company paper.

Kenneth Clinefelter also completed a two-year journalism program and has tagged a job on the Fairbury Daily News in Fairbury, Nebr. He received his associate title last June.

Completing the quartet is Tom Brown, a junior at the university, who writes the KOIL 10 p.m. newscast. Brown was on the Gateway last semester as assistant sports editor.

New phone system mishaps 'minor' ones

Look, Mom, no hands!

That's the story of the new automatic dial phone system for intra-building communications in a nutshell.

For now, in place of a human PBX operator, there is a large, intricate electrical machine to do the work.

That leaves just one fulltime and one part time PBX operator. They handle only incoming calls.

In spite of a few minor mishaps and misunderstandings, the new system is working out quite satisfactorily, according to Helen Powers, PBX operator.

"Everybody likes it better," she said.

Workshop open for OU artists

Are you a restrained Rembrandt? A manacled Michelangelo? Do you have a frustrated urge to create beautiful things?

If so, consider yourself lucky, for facilities of the Art Department's Christmas Workshop are available to you till Dec. 18.

Deadline for registration with Mrs. Laura Titzel, art instructor, is tomorrow. The workshop opened Nov. 8.

Students and faculty members who register may work in any art medium they desire, according to Mrs. Titzel.

The purpose of the workshop, which was opened at the university this year for the first time, is to "give students and faculty members a chance to work creatively in the Art Department," Mrs. Titzel said.

Displays advertising the workshop in the second floor show windows were set up by commercial art students Glen Richter, Bob Barritt, Tony Greco and Bill Giller.

The workshop, located in rooms 376 and 378, is open from 3 to 5 p.m., Monday through Thursday and from 10 to 12 a.m. and 1 to 4 p.m. on Friday.

New equipment valued at $3,245 and constructed especially for Omaha University's new chemistry laboratory, has arrived.

Students taking advanced analytical chemistry and physical chemistry will have an opportunity to use the new laboratory, room 443, next semester.

Workers are now installing the equipment, which includes tables, cabinets and facilities for direct current, alternating current, an exhaust fan, gas and hot water. This equipment was ordered from the Omaha School Supply Company last spring.

Dr. Ward, Chemistry Department head, said that the new laboratory will help to relieve the present crowded conditions.

State lines don't hamper lensmen

Gateway photographers added the "traveling is broadening" phase to the formal part of their education this past football season.

At least one Gateway lensman was on hand for all of the team's five away games, which, incidentally, were played in five different states. At each of the four home titles there were two or more cameramen.

Sending photographers to the games away from Omaha, enabled The Gateway to obtain exclusive picture coverage of the games in this area.

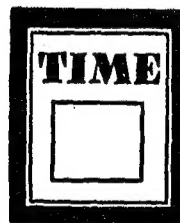

Photographer Bill Brown covered the Morningside game at Sioux City, Ia. and the South Dakota game at Vermillion.

Lensman Dick Orr was on hand for the Kearney Teachers and Colorado Teachers tilts. The latter was played at Greeley.

Both journeyed by car to Detroit, Mich., for the Wayne game, Nov. 13, covering 1,690 miles in the roundtrip.

And then there's the coed who was so ignorant she thought hardening of the arteries was a highway project.
